

The UFF–FSU Chapter Proudly Presents

Our First Spring 2009 Luncheon

Keynote Speaker: Professor Dan Clawson

University of Massachusetts Amherst

“AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES UNDER ATTACK: WHOSE VISION WILL PREVAIL?”

Thursday, January 22, 2009 12:30 in the SSB
(Student Services Bldg), Room 203 (second floor)

Professor Clawson is a Professor of Sociology at the University of Massachusetts-Amherst, where he was president of the Massachusetts Society of Professors. He is the author of The Next Upsurge: Labor and the New Social Movements and co-editor of Public Sociology: Fifteen Eminent Sociologists Debate Politics & the Profession in the Twenty-First Century.

He has also written on campaign finance, higher education, lessons of the civil rights movement, family issues, and childcare (the latter two with Naomi Gerstel). He is currently investigating (with Naomi Gerstel) why doctors, nurses, nursing assistants, and EMTs work the hours they do.

UFF luncheons are open and free to all faculty. Join us for an hour of conversation, a complimentary lunch, and a fascinating presentation on the future of U.S. universities.

Please RSVP to jtfiorito@comcast.net